

JAMES H.E. HAUGHT

OBJECTIVE

Associate veterinarian in a busy mixed animal practice where I can implement my knowledge, decision making, and skill set.

EDUCATION

2008- May 2012 Colorado State University College of Veterinary Medicine

- Degree: Doctor of Veterinary Medicine

2004- May 2008 Colorado State University College of Agriculture

- Degree: Bachelors of Science in Animal Science

WORK EXPERIENCE

May 2005-May 2011

CSU Veterinary Teaching Hospital

Large Animal Veterinary Technician

- Responsible for the care and oversight of any hospitalized patients including feeding, milking, and treatments. Additionally, I set up for procedures, taught students handling and other essential tasks, received emergencies and filled in as necessary to insure optimal patient care and customer satisfaction.

February 1998-Present

Rancho-Snowfall Dairy Goats

Owner/Manager

- Responsible for all aspects required in the successful care and management of 20+ champion dairy goats. Development of a nationally competitive seedstock program which markets and ships animals throughout North America for show and commercial use.

2000- July 2004

Monte Vista Animal Clinic

Volunteer

- Provided technical support with animal restraint, surgical preparation, and set up for procedures in a busy single veterinarian mixed animal practice. Also communicated with customers, went on field calls, observed surgeries, and learned about medical records.

Prior to 2004

Bar Seventy Gelbvieh

Ranch Hand

- Born and raised on a working, commercial beef cattle ranch. I have been involved in all aspects of my family's business including genetics, husbandry and marketing.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

2008-Present American Association of Small Ruminant Practitioners

2008-Present American Association of Bovine Practitioners

2008-Present American College of Theriogenologists

ADDITIONAL EXPERIENCE

2002-Present Leadership Roles within the Dairy Goat Industry

- Elected or appointed to represent the membership as Director or Committee Member: Alpines International Breed Club, American LaMancha Club, and the Colorado Dairy Goat Association

2004-2008 Colorado State University Ag Ambassador

- I was chosen to serve as a representative for the College of Agriculture at various public events. Through this role I received training in leadership, communication and teaching.

REFERENCES AVAILABLE ON REQUEST
